Editor's Profile

Tahir Farooq

Editor-in-Chief/CEO, Daily Ittehad Media Group & Pakistan Economic Net. Vice President Council of Pakistan Newspaper Editors and Chairman Foreign Relations Committee, CPNE.

Background

Tahir Farooq, a senior Pakistani journalist and a political and foreign policy commentator serves as the editor-in-chief of Daily ITTEHAD Media Group, one of Pakistan's few Urdu dailies, published simultaneously from Peshawar, Islamabad, Karachi, and Abbottabad.

Tahir Farooq has distinguished himself as a preeminent figure in Pakistani media, bringing to the fore a legacy of journalistic integrity and national service. At the helm of Daily Ittehad Media Group, he has expanded the publication's influence and reach, steering it to become a voice of reason and a beacon of truth in an often-turbulent media landscape. His stewardship has seen the daily grow in stature and relevance, maintaining a tradition of excellence that resonates with the ethos of his late father, Mr. Sharif Farooq, who was not only a veteran journalist but also a passionate contributor to the Pakistan Movement. Tahir Farooq's commitment to journalistic rigor and his advocacy for a principled media echo a deep-seated devotion to his nation's ethos, mirroring the patriotic spirit inherited from his esteemed lineage.

Journalistic Experience

Maintaining this strenuous and time-consuming position, He is the Editor of the Monthly 'Peace International' published from the capital of Pakistan. He is also the founder of Pakistan Economic Net which is one of the leading business and political web portals of Pakistan. Mr. Farooq knows the art of striking the balance as he also served his country in the strategic capacity of the Vice-President of the KPK chapter of the Council of Pakistan Newspaper Editors (CPNE) for the last 9 years.

Mr. Farooq is associated with journalism since his youthful years. Being the son of a senior journalist and a worker of the Pakistan Movement, the Late Mr. Sharif Farooq (Tamgha - e - mtiaz), has upheld the journalistic ethics and values as transferred by his father. Carrying this vision further by embracing and advocating nationalistic sentiment at International forums.

Mr. Farooq has published several articles defending Pakistan's geo-strategic position in South Asia and Central Asia. His views are widely read and appreciated in intellectual circles.

Mr. Farooq's journalist career spans more than two decades, during which he has represented Pakistan at several international events worldwide.

As editor-in-chief of Daily ITTEHAD and Pakistan Economic Net, Mr. Farooq has published special supplements and reports supporting Pakistan strategically.

He led a delegation of Editors to China in 2019 in the capacity of Vice President of CPNE. During a visit to China highlighted Pakistan's strategic importance for China viz a viz developments in Afghanistan.

Keeping in view the importance of Central Asia, Mr. Farooq always highlighted Pakistan's positive image in Central Asian countries Uzbekistan, Turkmenistan, and Azerbaijan in his newspapers and digital platforms. In capacity of Editor of Daily ITTEHAD and Vice President of CPNE, he was invited by Uzbekistan's government as an international observer for Presidential and parliamentary elections. With his vast experience in covering numerous international elections, he was one of the senior most journalists covering the Uzbek elections.

He was also part the delegation invited by the Uzbek government during the visit of Prime Minister Imran Khan to Tashkent in July 2021.

CPNE's Foreign Relations Committee

Keeping in view Mr. Farooq's experience which is mentioned above, the Council of Pakistan Newspaper Editors elected him as Chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee of CPNE.

The committee consists of senior journalists in Pakistan who are part in shaping and narrative building of the masses.

Centre for Regional Connectivity with Shared Future

The Centre for Regional Connectivity with Shared Future, spearheaded by Tahir Farooq, stands as a testament to his visionary approach towards fostering international cooperation. This think tank is dedicated to enhancing regional ties, advocating for economic, cultural, and sustainable development partnerships across nations. It is a hub where policy meets practice, driving the agenda of the Belt and Road Initiative (BRI) and championing the cause of shared prosperity and connectivity. Under Farooq's guidance, the centre aims to serve as a linchpin in promoting the vision of a cohesive future, where the collective strength of nations is harnessed to create an era of peace, stability, and economic dynamism. It is through this endeavour that Farooq aspires to weave a tapestry of collaboration that not only benefits Pakistan but also strengthens its role as a pivotal conduit between diverse regions.

The Centre for Regional Connectivity with Shared Future under Tahir Farooq's leadership is dedicated to pioneering research and dialogue on the pivotal role of South and Central Asia in global affairs. It operates on the principle that robust economic corridors and cultural exchanges are the bedrock of sustainable development and peace in the region. The Centre's initiatives focus on policy advocacy, scholarly research, and strategic forums that bring together policymakers, academics, and industry leaders to discuss and develop actionable strategies for regional cooperation. By highlighting the strategic importance of the Belt and Road Initiative (BRI) and advocating for Pakistan's enhanced role within it, the Centre seeks to position the country as a leader in regional integration efforts. This think tank's work is driven by a belief in the transformative power of shared knowledge and collective action to create a prosperous and interconnected future.
